Ages 8-12

Tuesday, June 18th from 9 am - 3 pm

Standing Stone Elementary - Huntingdon, PA

Join us for a day filled with creativity, innovation, and excitement as students embark on a journey to design and build their very own carnival games using cardboard. Campers will learn valuable engineering concepts as they design, prototype, and refine their games, all while having a blast with their fellow campers.

For families looking to take the experience to the next level, we offer the option to add on a micro:bit.. With this coding extension, campers can dive deeper into the world of technology, learning to program their games to interact with the micro:bit and adding an extra layer of complexity and creativity to their creations.

At the end of the day, campers will proudly showcase their cardboard masterpieces at our very own Cardboard Carnival, where families are invited to join in the fun and play the games they've created.

Cost: $35
